

MR TURPIE WANTS
THE DIRECT VOTESAYS SENATORS ARE NOT NAMED PROPERLY.

He Bitterly Scores the Present Method of Electing Them, and Demands that a Change Be Made—Combination Made in Favor of the Pooling Bill—Proceedings in the House.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Upon the opening of the senate yesterday Mr. Gorman offered a resolution providing that when the senate adjourn it meet on Monday next. Adopted.

The president's message, in response to a senate resolution, submitting information as to the arrest of an American citizen in Peru, was received. Mr. Turpie (dem., Ind.) then took the floor for a carefully prepared speech on the resolution for the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people. He bitterly criticized the present system, saying in substance it put a premium on fraudulent elections.

At the close of Mr. Turpie's speech Mr. Morgan (dem., Ala.) gave notice that Monday next he would call up the Nicaragua canal bill with a view to explaining it and making some remarks.

Mr. Ransom (dem., N. C.) gave notice the memorial service for the late Senator Vance would be held Jan. 17 next.

A bill was passed for the national dedication of the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National park Sept. 19 and 30, 1895, under the direction of the secretary of war and then, at 1:30 p. m., the senate went into executive session, and at 1:55 p. m. adjourned until Monday.

CHANGES IN COMMITTEES.

Speaker Crisp Announces a Long List of Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—At the opening of the house session yesterday the speaker announced that the following members had been relieved from service on the designated committees at their own request: Mr. Hicks (rep., Pa.) from the committee on levees and improvements of the Mississippi river; Mr. Tate (dem., Ga.) from the committee on military affairs; Mr. Sibley (dem., Pa.) from the committee on expenditures in the navy department, and Mr. Wheeler (dem., Ala.) committee on military affairs.

Mr. Livingston (dem., Ga.) from the committee on appropriations, reported the fortifications appropriations bill and gave notice that he would call it up as soon as the pooling bill was disposed of, and Mr. O'Neill (dem., Mass.) reported the pension appropriation bill. In the morning hour Mr. McKee (dem., Ark.) called up the bill to protect forest reservations which was under discussion several days during the last session, but by agreement it went over until to-day.

The consideration of the railroad pooling bill was resumed under the special order adopted Wednesday.

Mr. Cooper (dem., Fla.), a member of the commerce committee, in opening the debate declared the bill had important features, but also had many defects. He offered a substitute to meet his objection to the bill.

Mr. Henderson (rep., Iowa) asked if the fact that small shippers under a pooling system would be able to get the advantages of the low rates now given big shippers would not justify the passage of a law legalizing pooling.

Mr. Cooper replied that was the only consideration which could induce him to vote to authorize pooling, but he would not do so unless safeguards and restrictions not contained in this bill were provided to prevent the abuse of this proposed enlargement of the chartered powers of the railroads.

Mr. Cooper concluded at the end of two hours and was followed by Mr. Gresham (dem., Texas), who was in favor of the bill.

Mr. More (rep., Mass.), spoke in support of the measure and Mr. Daniels (rep., N. Y.), followed in opposition. At the conclusion of Mr. Daniels' argument the house, at 4:55 p. m., adjourned until to-day.

ESTIMATES ON INCOME TAX.

Appropriations Committee Receives the Treasury Figures.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The appropriations committee received yesterday from the treasury the estimates required to carry the income tax provision of the tariff bill into effect for the remainder of the present fiscal year, beginning Jan. 1, 1895. The estimates for the collection for tax until July 1, 1895, aggregate $245,095. The appropriation to provide for the collection of the income tax will be incorporated in an urgent deficiency bill and will probably precipitate the first general political skirmish of the session.

The committee also completed the bill asking appropriations for the payment of pensions during the fiscal year 1895-'96. It carries an appropriation of $141,381,570, as against estimates of $141,381,570, and an appropriation for the current year of $151,581,570. The only reduction from the estimates was of $300,000 on account of fees for examining surgeons.

Representative Livingston of the committee reported to the house the bill making appropriations for fortifications and other works of defense for the fiscal year 1895-'96. The estimates on which the bill is based aggregate $7,357,703.

No Tariff Legislation This Session.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The supplementary tariff bills are dead and tariff legislation at the present session is practically impossible. This follows from the action of the caucus of the democratic senators yesterday. The tariff having been disposed of, the caucus proceeded to frame an ostensible program of work for the session. The finance committee was instructed to formulate a measure for the reform of the currency on the lines laid down by the President and the secretary. The caucus commended the bankruptcy bill, the measure for the admission of Arizona and Dakota, the reorganization of the Indian territory, and the election of senators by direct vote, to the attention of the steering committee, with the proviso that the appropriation bills were to have right of way at all times. As the fortifications and pension bills are now read in the house there is but little hope of any other important bills being taken up. There was a sentiment in the caucus in favor of action on the Nicaragua canal and the pooling bill, but no formal instruction was passed.

No meeting of the "steering committee" has yet been called and there has consequently been no agreement as to the order in which the bills agreed upon shall be taken up.

Talk of Arbitration.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—There was a conference at the labor bureau yesterday between Congressmen McGann, Springer, and Erdman and the commissioner of labor in reference to arbitration in case of labor or other disturbances in this country. Representative Erdman said after the conference there seemed to be no real opposition to the Springer arbitration bill and that he thought it would be passed easily. It can be called up any day.

May Force the Bill Through.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—There is every prospect a strong combination has been made in the house to carry through the bill proposed by Representative Patterson of Tennessee to repeal the anti-pooling clause of the interstate commerce act. Members who should be in a position to know predict the combination will defeat the measure, which is extremely obnoxious to the railroads. A hot fight is anticipated.

Uniform Foreign Postage.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Provision for uniform rates of postage for United States mail sent to every portion of the globe, with a few exceptions, is made in an order issued by Postmaster General Bissell. The rates are 5 cents for each half ounce, except for Canada and Mexico, where the domestic rate of 2 cents an ounce are applicable, or to the postal agency at Shanghai.

Charges Cruelty to Indians.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Senator Pettigrew made a strong plea before the senate committee on Indian affairs yesterday for an investigation of the interior department in its removal of the Lower Brule Indians of South Dakota from their reservation. He charged the department with gross cruelty in their treatment of the Indians.

Cruiser Minneapolis Is Accepted.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The navy department has preliminarily accepted the cruiser Minneapolis and authorized the payment of $411,600 to Mr. Cramp, the builder, being the amount of the premium, The Minneapolis will be put in commission not later than Monday and will be attached to the North Atlantic station.

To Make a President Ineligible.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Representative Bryan, democrat, Nebraska, yesterday introduced in the house a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution making the President ineligible to a second term.

Treasury Gold on the Decrease.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The cash balance in the treasury yesterday was $154,727,085, of which $109,560,123 was net gold. This is a loss in gold since Wednesday's report of $1,581,897.

TO FIX TERMS OF PEACE.

Japanese Minister Summoned to Confer with Secretary Gresham.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The Japanese minister, Mr. Kurino, was among Secretary Gresham's callers yesterday. He came in answer to a summons from the secretary and there is reason to believe that some news bearing upon the peace negotiations has been received. It is not possible to learn the exact nature of the visit, but it is believed that through the efforts of the American ministers a preliminary arrangement has been effected opening the way to a pacific adjustment of terms of peace between duly accredited representatives of China and Japan, which will include the fixing of the amount of the indemnity and other details that could not properly be arranged in the preliminary negotiations.

Law for a New Denomination.

NAPERVILLE, Ill., Dec. 7.—The general conference of the United Evangelical church yesterday adopted laws defining the constituency of a quarterly conference, the mode of procedure in case of trial of any of its officials, the constituency of an annual conference, and the basis of representation of laymen in the same, and the privileges of laymen in the conference. Bishop Dubs of Chicago presided.

$31,000 THE BOOTY
THE ROBBERS GOTFORT WORTH TRAIN HOLD UP
A BOLD ONE.

Got Away with a Large Amount of Gold Certificates—Three Masked Men Do the Work Neatly and with Dispatch—All Trace of Them Lost in a Dense Forest.

FORT WORTH, Dec. 7.—The robbers who held up the express train here last night got $31,000 in gold certificates as the result of their raid. The train held up was the east bound Texas & Pacific passenger and the crime was committed at a trestle seven miles west of here at 5:30 p. m. yesterday. Several shots were fired from the front end of the train and the passengers were warned to keep their heads in the windows. The train was detained ten or fifteen minutes, during which time those who caught a glimpse of the proceedings on the other side of the trestle saw three masked men, with guns leveled, marching the engineer and trainmen in and out of the baggage car. When they finished their work the robbers made the engineer back the train over the trestle, and while it was crossing they disappeared in a thick forest. In one respect the robbery was remarkable and sets a precedent. The iron safe of the messenger was thrown from the car and carried off.

The train stopped at the water tank. One man boarded it and covered the engineer and fireman, while the other two looted the express car. Division Superintendent J. B. Paul was on the train. It arrived here only fifteen minutes late. J. M. Berry of Dallas was a passenger on the train.

"There is not much of a story to tell," he said. "The whole procedure did not occupy twelve minutes. A quarter of a mile east of Benbrook three masked men held up the train. I don't know how they did it. The first thing I knew the engineer threw the air brakes. After the train stopped I heard a shot. Five minutes later I heard another shot. I heard that the robbers broke into the express car, but nothing could be learned from the officials as to the extent of the robbery. The express messenger got off at Fort Worth and he would give no information. The robbery was so quietly conducted that the passengers were not badly awed."

China Will Send an Ambassador.

CHEFOO, Dec. 7.—The Tsung Li Yamen has decided to send a special ambassador to Tokio fully authorized to negotiate a treaty of peace. This is the result of an intimation from United States Minister Denby that he and the United States Minister to Japan have prepared the way for direct communication between China and Japan, though the nature of the preliminary negotiations are kept secret.

Opposed to a Free Silver Party.

TOPEKA, Kan., Dec. 7.—The Kansas Farmers' Alliance, in convention here yesterday, adopted resolutions opposing the movement to organize a free silver party and declaring that a political organization with so narrow a platform would only have the effect of dividing the "reform" forces of the country. Free delivery of postal matter in county districts was demanded. The convention is not largely attended.

Yacht Challenge Received.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—Secretary J. S. D. Oddie of the New York Yacht club has received by cable the text of Lord Dunraven's challenge for the American cup. He will not, however, make the terms known until they have been acted upon by the American's cup committee.

Seeks to Reclaim Delinquent Lands.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 7.—The state land board has taken active steps to reclaim from delinquents 32,000 acres, including the 10,000 held by the Colorado Consolidated Land and Water company, in which J. V. Farwell of Chicago is interested and on which $52,000 has been paid to the state.

Binding Twine Men Do Not Agree.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—The binding twine manufacturers, who were represented at a meeting at the Grand Pacific hotel yesterday, were not able to agree upon a plan to accomplish the purposes of the meeting. Another meeting may be held to-day, when other representatives may be present.

Utah Citizens to Fight the Utes.

SALT LAKE CITY, Dec. 7.—Col. E. W. Tatlock of the militia left yesterday for San Juan county with 100 carbines and 1,000 rounds of ammunition, which will be furnished to the citizens who are threatened by the invasion of the Ute Indians from Colorado.

Will Convert It Into a Museum.

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 7.—The old Jefferson Davis mansion here, formerly the white house of the confederacy, will soon be converted into a museum of confederate relics. A meeting was held here yesterday to perfect the plans.

Illinois Corn Crop Is Short.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—The November report of the department of Agriculture contains the returns on the corn crop of Illinois. The crop, according to the report, will be much below the average.

ANGRY SOCIALISTS
CAUSED A SCENEHAD A LIVELY ROW IN THE REICHSTAG.

England Is Far From Satisfied with the Sultan's Explanation of the Armenian Outrage, and Trouble May Follow—Union of Churches Advocated.

BERLIN, Dec. 7.—The first session of the reichstag in the new palace erected for its use was marked by a disorderly scene growing out of the refusal of socialist members to cheer for the emperor. The term of office of Herr von Levetzow, president of the reichstag, expired yesterday. He made a reminiscent speech, dwelling upon the work that had been performed during his incumbency, and at the end of his remarks called for three cheers for the emperor.

The socialist members remained in their seats and refused to cheer, and a most stormy scene ensued. When order was restored the re-election of officers of the house was proceeded with. When this had been concluded President von Levetzow expressed his regret that he was unable to punish the disloyal socialists.

Singer, the leader of the socialists, thereupon arose and attempted to justify the attitude of himself and his fellow socialists, and the disgraceful scene was re-enacted.

The centrists (clericals) introduced the motion for the repeal of the anti-Jesuit laws, which was defeated at the last session.

The house then adjourned until Tuesday, when the budget will be introduced.

CURRIE IS DISSATISFIED.

He Doesn't Swallow the Porte's Bluff About the Armenian Outrage.

VIENNA, Dec. 7.—A dispatch from Constantinople says Sir Phillip Currie, the British ambassador at Constantinople, is dissatisfied with the porte's statement that the Armenian outrages were only ordinary acts of brigands and that he has made further strong representations to the porte that Great Britain is aware the affair partook of the nature of a rising upon the part of the Armenians owing to the intolerable situation, the absence of security for the life and property, and the depredations of the Kurds. It is reported that further disturbances have occurred in the Zeitun district in the mountains of Asia Minor and at Sassoun.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—Speaking at the dinner of the Eighty club the Earl of Kimberley, secretary of state for foreign affairs, said the feeling of horror excited by the reports of the Armenian atrocities, was fully shared by the government, which was seriously considering the subject. He hoped for the sake of humanity the charges would prove to have been largely exaggerated. The earl assured his hearers the government was deeply sensible of the gravity of the matter and would not fail to perform its duty.

For the Union of the Churches.

ROME, Dec. 6.—A papal decree, which is the outcome of recent conferences held here looking to the reunion of the Roman and the Greek churches, appeared yesterday. It provides that ecclesiastical colleges founded in the east by the papacy shall be developed in favor of the eastern church. The rites of the latter church shall be maintained intact. The decree announces that the pope, with monetary assistance of Catholics of all countries, will found colleges and churches in the east.

King Leopold Is Insulted Too.

BRUSSELS, Dec. 7.—In the chamber of deputies yesterday during the discussion of the budget and civil list the socialists submitted a motion protesting against the civil list of the Count of Flanders, a brother of the king, in the name of their republican convictions. A tumultuous debate ensued, after which the premier, M. de Burlet, called upon the chamber to join him in cheers for the king. The socialists refused to cheer.

Fear a Revival of Fonian Movement.

LONDON, Dec. 7.—It is stated that at their own request detectives are shadowing Herbert Asquith, the home secretary; Sir William Vernon Harcourt, chancellor of the exchequer; and John Morley, chief secretary for Ireland. Fears are entertained of a revival of the Fenian movement.

Money Not Scarce in Panama.

PANAMA, Dec. 7.—The canal officials claim to have more than enough money to continue work for a year. Not 500 men are working steadily. Many cases of fever are reported among the laborers.

Adopts the 65,000,000 Francs Credit. PARIS, Dec. 7.—The senate yesterday, by a vote of 246 to 3, adopted the Madagascar credit of 65,000,000 francs [$12,350,000].

Life Term Strikes a Guard.

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Dec. 7.—W. W. Stallings, guard in the state prison south, located at this place, was struck over the head yesterday with an iron bar by William Fowers, a life time prisoner, and probably was injured fatally. Fowers is an ex-soldier and draws a large pension.

ENGLAND IS NEXT.

Japan Wants to Wipe John Bull's Land Off the Planet.

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—The steamships Energia and Strathlevon from China and Japan, leaving Yokohama and Shanghai Sept. 5, have arrived here. Capt. Cormick of the Strathlevon and Capt. Saw of the Energia said that they had not seen much fighting but that in the different ports where they had anchored they had abundant opportunity to learn the feeling between the two countries.

"Why," said Capt. Cormick, "you never saw a country have such a large bump of self esteem as Japan has recently developed. The Japanese are very fond of calling their country the 'England of the east.' One Japanese gentleman whom I met in Yokohama was talking to me about the future of Japan and he got down a map and pointed out to me the fact that Japan was in the same relative position to Asia that England is to Europe, and then he said:

"Japan's influence may be felt throughout Asia as England's is throughout Europe. And then England has some interest in Asia. Possibly we may have some in Europe. No one can tell."

Another Jap whom I met was very confident that Japan would some day be the greatest nation. He was a passenger on my ship and was going from Yokohama to Hokodate, and one night when we were standing on deck together I asked him who would win the war.

"Why, Japan, of course," he answered.

"What will Japan do after the war," I asked.

"Oh, there is a country of gold to the south. Japan may want that." He meant Australia, and I asked him what England would be doing while Japan took Australia.

"I don't think Japan cares what England would do," he answered, and I had to run off and look at the compass for fear of laughing in his face."

SETS A MARK TWICE.

Ives Runs 334 and Later Follows with 359 Points.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—Frank Ives established a new record for high run in billiards at the beginning of play last night in the 14-inch balk line match with Jake Schaefer, and broke it again before the night's play was finished. Previous to last night the highest run in 14-inch balk line billiards, with limitations on the use of the anchor shot, was 331, made by Ives in the recent tourney at New York. When play closed Wednesday night Ives had made 281 points. Resuming that run, with the balls where he had left them, he picked out fifty-three points more, making the total run 334 or three points more than the New York run. Later in the game he went at it again and made a run of 359, beating his own record by twenty-five points. The score by innings:

Ives—53, 0, 29, 3, 5, 19, 1, 0, 1, 7, 359, 41, 83

Schaefer—23, 60, 54, 4, 7, 34, 23, 27, 4, 129,

7, 6—388.

Averages—Ives, 46 2-13; Schaefer, 32 4-12.

High runs—Ives, 359; Schaefer, 129.

Grand totals—Ives, 2,400; Schaefer, 1,431.

Grand averages—Ives, 41 22-58; Schaefer, 24 39-58.

HARMONY IN SIGHT.

Election Law Passed in Alabama Which Will Satisfy Both Sides.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 7.—Representative John of Jefferson county, democrat, introduced in the state legislature yesterday a bill for the enactment of an election law to contest state affairs. The bill is said to be fair and equitable and will enable Kolb and all his state officers who claim election to contest in the state tribunals. Citizens at large prophesy political harmony as the result.

HAS FLED THE COUNTRY.

Wilson, Implicated in the Tarnsey Outrage Believed to be in Mexico.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 7.—Adjutant General Tarnsey has just learned that Joseph R. Wilson, who is alleged to have been implicated in the tarring and feathering of the adjutant general at Colorado Springs last summer, and who turned state's evidence, has fled the country. Wilson is the man whom Gen. Tarnsey traced to Missouri and brought back to Colorado for trial. Pending his trial Wilson was locked up in the El Paso county jail. About a month ago he was liberated on a bail bond and is now missing. He is thought to be in Mexico.

Ex-Surgeon General Dangerously Ill.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Dr. John Mills Browne, formerly surgeon general of the navy, is dangerously ill here, as a result of a stroke of paralysis, involving the whole of his right side. As Dr. Browne is considerably past the prime of life his recovery is doubtful.

FOUND A DEAD BODY
IN A BLOODY BOXGHOSTLY DISCOVERY MADE BY CHICAGO POLICE.

Mangled Remains of a Human Being Brought to Light Near the World's Fair Grounds, Suggests Another Crime of the Cronin Order—Ging Murder Clearing.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7.—[Special]—The mangled body of a man was found in a box near the World's Fair grounds this morning, and a mysterious murder is suspected.

Arrested for the Ging Murder.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 7.—Interesting and sensational developments in connection with the Ging murder mystery are promised, which will throw an entirely new light on the case and explain many seeming impossibilities. Last night the latest sensation was sprung when young Harry Hayward was arrested. It is not thought he actually committed the crime, but is believed to have instigated it. He denies all knowledge of the matter.

In the Shadow of the Gallows.

WICHITA, Kan., Dec. 7.—Zeb Ward, Bill Bryant, William Hupp and "Kid" Muldoon, young local toughs, were arrested last night for robbery and may all be held for murder. They assaulted and robbed Michael Kinney, who is likely to die. Part of the stolen money was taken from the prisoners, all of whom have confessed.

Found with Her Throat Cut.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Dec. 7.—Mrs. Jacob Cherry was found at her home, ten miles from the city, yesterday afternoon, cold and stiff with her throat cut from ear to ear. Her husband, Jacob Cherry, a prominent farmer, is missing, and is thought to be the murderer.

SEALERS SHOW ANXIETY.

Canadian Fishers Expected More than Cleveland Recommendation.

VICTORIA, B. C., Dec. 7.—President Cleveland's recommendation to congress to pay $425,000 practically in full settlement of the claims of Canadian sealers against the United States, causes anxious speculation. When it was unofficially stated some months ago that that amount would be paid it was understood to be merely for claims presented to the Paris tribunal out of the seizures in Behring sea during 1886, 1887 and 1889, there having been none in 1888. About $400,000 was the amount of claims on this account. Canadian sealers fully expect to receive large sums for the loss of prospective profits through exclusion under the modus vivendi, especially because for 1891, the first year of the arrangement, England advanced about $100,000 as indemnity. Claims of 1892 and 1893, which will be pressed against the Canadian and British governments, amount to considerably more than $500,000.

FOUND DEAD IN HIS BED.

William Conant, the Aged Mayor of Geneva, Ill., Expires.

GENEVA, Ill., Dec. 7.—William Conant, the venerable mayor of this city, was found dead in his bed yesterday morning. His wife supposed him to be sleeping and tried to awaken him, but found that he was dead. The physician who was called said that heart disease had caused the sudden death. Although about 80 years of age Mr. Conant was still vigorous and active. He was one of the early settlers of Kane county, coming here from Brandon, Vt. He came from an old New England family. His son, Luther E. Conant, is proprietor of the Subscription News company.

WAR TALK IN MEXICO.

Generals Volunteer Their Services and Legislators Subscribe Their Pay.

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Dec. 7.—The Mexican government is receiving offers of assistance in case of war with Guatemala. The members of the Queretaro legislature have voted to subscribe their pay to a war fund. Gen. Leonardo Marquez of Maximilian's army, now in Cuba; General Pallo Rocha of Guaymas, and Col. Antonio Guzman of Chihuahua are ready to serve. The last named has been ordered to report at the City of Mexico.

DEBS WANTS INDORSEMENT.

Will Attend the Federation of Labor Convention at Denver.

DENVER, Colo., Dec. 7.—It is announced that Eugene V. Debs, president of the American Railway Union, will attend the convention of the American Federation of Labor in Denver next week and will endeavor to secure an indorsement of his plan to amalgamate labor organizations into one vast federation to be known as the United Federation of Workmen. He will also ask the convention to approve the strike of last summer. This will probably be strongly opposed by Samuel Gompers, president of the federation.

Fire Caused by an Accident.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 7.—The head of a match flying off in the hands of a boy caused a fire in W. W. P. McConnell's department store at Mankato, Minn., yesterday, resulting in damage of $40,000; insurance, $15,000.

George Culvers twin daughters from Beloit visited this place for a few days.

News Notes From Center.

CENTER, Dec. 7.—The marriage of Will Kuelz and Miss Lucy Appell, took place November 8, at the residence of the bride's parents, on the Madison road. That they are popular, was evinced Wednesday evening, when a large company of their young friends surprised them. The literary society is booming. They intend giving a public entertainment soon, and if the parties on the programme appear, it is safe to say that the church will not hold the crowd. Fred Vankirk, "our groceryman," has a good one on some of the boys who purchase groceries at wholesale and pay about twenty per cent for the privilege. There is promise of a large crop of weddings in the near future. Get my prices on groceries, compare the goods and see how much you are out, buying wholesale. Fred Vankirk, Rev. Goodacre has returned home and is making some needed repairs on the parsonage. Don't forget the oyster supper at the residence of William Dean next Friday. Buy your useful gifts at home and at the same time help the ladies church society. Otto Long has a fine crop of clover seed. The creamery is turning as fine an article of butter as ever was made, and although not as high priced as some seasons, the extra flow of milk pays the farmer about as well.

BOWER CITY MAY BE ON A GRAND CIRCUIT

PLANS BEING MADE FOR A BIG RACE MEETING.

Western Trotting Secretaries Meet at Chicago and Talk Things Over, with the Result That Many Suggestions Are Made Without Really Definite Result.

In all probability Janesville will be on "western grand circuit" next season and the best race meeting that Rock county ever saw will be the result. There will be no $500 purses but $800 and $1,000 will be the sum raced for. The circuit will probably be composed of the following towns and although the dates are not settled the meetings will be held in about this order:

June—First week Denver, Col.
June—Second week St. Joseph, Mo.
June—Third week, Omaha, Neb., or Council Bluffs, Iowa.

June—Fourth week, Red Oak, Iowa.
July—First week, Des Moines, Iowa, and Minneapolis, Minn.

July—Second week, Oshkosh.
July—Third week, Milwaukee.
July—Fourth week, Janesville.

This arrangement was talked over at Chicago yesterday where a number of prominent Western secretaries met at the Auditorium at 3 o'clock yesterday and formulated a schedule of trotting meetings for the season of 1895, which will be known as the "western grand" circuit. Among those present were: C. W. Williams, Galesburg, Ill.; Morris J. Jones, Red Oak, Iowa, representing also the association at St. Joseph, Mo., and Omaha, Neb.; H. D. McKinney, Janesville, Wis.; L. A. Davies of Chicago, president of the Des Moines (Iowa), association; R. F. Jones, Minneapolis; F. P. Toms, La Crosse, Wis.; A. A. Swearingen, representing Freeport, Ill.; and Secretary Bradford of Oshkosh, Wis.

Dates were not arranged satisfactorily for either Galesburg, Janesville, Freeport or Oshkosh. Discussion was quite extended as to the proper entrance fee, without arriving at any definite understanding. The purses will be of from $800 to $1,000 with three races each day. This will be an especially strong circuit in the west, as it fills every week from June 1 to the opening of the grand circuit. Changes from the dates selected may be made.

COL. SMITH TO LECTURE ON SONG

He Has Dates at Kansas City and Several Other Places.

Colonel Nicholas Smith left Milwaukee this morning for Kansas City, where he will give his lecture Saturday evening on "Songs of War and Patriotism." Colonel Smith's lecture in Kansas City will be delivered under the auspices of the Southwestern Soldiers' Relief association. He is negotiating for a date at Topeka, and will deliver the lecture at Columbus in this state Dec. 13., at Waukesha Dec. 18 and at Ashland Dec 21.

BAD TOWN FOR SWEARING, THIS

The Madison Democrat Evidently Judges Us By a Poor Standard.

According to the Madison Democrat we are all a bad lot down here. The Democrat says: "Judge Bennett refused the other day to divorce a couple at Janesville on the ground of profanity. He said if he granted a divorce on that ground half of the population of Janesville would be untied. It has been stated heretofore that a fog never lasted ten minutes in Janesville because the air was always blue with oaths." Perhaps that's all right. They haven't heard an oath in Madison since election but during their roster contract—??—&!!! and some of them from Janesville too. You mustn't judge us all by the few that were then filed.

You cannot go wrong if you take the advice of A. F. Hall & Co., "the reliable jewelers" in regard to watches. No one sells cheaper than they. If you have promised a watch for Christmas why not investigate early.

AN honest tale about the quality of their diamonds is the only kind of one that is told by A. F. Hall & Co., "the reliable jewelers." The more you know about diamonds the more you can appreciate Hall & Co's. big stock and low prices.

Is it always best to buy the cheapest? In choosing their make of cut glass, A. F. Hall & Co., "the reliable jewelers," did not think that it was. Anyone who wants cut glass wants it right; and Hall & Co's prices make it possible for you to get the best at about the cost of cheaper grades.

MANY COURT DEATH ON THE THIN ICE

SKATING IS DANGEROUS WHEN THE CURRENT FLOWS.

Yesterday's Accident, Which Should Be a Warning Against Venturing Too Far, Leads a Man Who Has Rescued Several People to Give Some Suggestions.

Death is lurking under the icy bosom of Rock river that looks so inviting to the skater. There has been hardly enough colder weather to make solid ice where the current flows and although everyone who has broken through, so far, has been fortunate enough to get out, it is only a matter of chance when someone fails to come out of the scrape so luckily and then there'll be a funeral. Two serious accidents have already occurred and these lead a man who has rescued several people to give these directions for the safety of skaters:

When you go skating take a ball of strong cord to one end of which is attached a heavy fish sinker, so that if any one goes through the ice you can stand far enough away from the hole and yet render them assistance by throwing the end of the weighted line to them.

If you go through the ice where there is a strong current, try and keep at the up river end of the hole. Rest your arm on the edge of the ice if possible, but don't attempt to climb out alone, for you will lose the strength which you will need when assistance arrives. If a person remains perfectly quiet the cold water does not circulate through his clothes and the body is kept warm. Use every effort to keep away from the down river end of the hole for the current will sweep you under the ice in a twinkling.

If no help is near, rest one arm on the ice, raise the foot carefully and one skate can be removed very easily. Take off the other skate in the same manner and then with these to aid you your safety is assured.

If you hear anyone call for help do not hasten to the spot unless you have a pole, bush or something that will be of assistance to them.

Best of all keep off the ice under which there is a strong current.

That Charged by a Paris Painter for His Canvas.

A very amusing anecdote concerning the brother of the new president of the French republic is related by M. Ziem, the Venice artist. The brother of M. Casimir-Perier was on intimate terms with Corot. He came one day, in 1895, to see the painter at Barbizon, just at the moment when Corot was putting the finishing touches to his "Biblis," a picture which represents nymphs sleeping in a wood. His enthusiasm for this work of art, where the poetry of the subject was contending with the science of the painter for superiority, made him wish to possess the canvas.

"You shall have my picture," said the artist, "on one condition, and it is that you will pay the butcher's and baker's bill of my friend Millet." "Agreed!" replied M. Perier, a little astonished at this curious condition. The bills were sent for to Chailly, when it was found that the accounts had been running with the two tradesmen for fully twelve years. The one amounted to 22,000 francs and the other to 24,000 francs. M. Perier paid the bills without moving a muscle. His Corot cost him 46,000 francs. Today he would not take three times that amount for it, but, nevertheless, during the life of the painter it was only worth some 1,300 francs.

Leeches Make Good Barometers.

"An old-time druggist, an apothecary, and country doctor for whom I used to work," said the veteran druggist, "used to tell the weather by the way the leeches acted in the jar. He always said that in still weather, dry or wet, they remained at the bottom of the jar, but that they rose, often as much as twenty-four hours in advance of any change, and in case of a thunder-storm they rose very quickly, descending when it was past. The boys used to keep a frog in a jar with a little wooden ladder leading up out of it. The frog came out and sat on the steps when rain was expected."

A Canny Scot.

A gentleman of large means in a Scottish county had a hothouse vineery celebrated for its choice produce. When the queen was on one of her periodical journeys through Scotland the royal train was timed to stop for luncheon at a well-known station in this county and Mr. Childers availed himself of the opportunity to send her majesty an offering of his best grapes, says the San Francisco Argonaut. In due course a letter of acknowledgment expressing the royal appreciation of the gift and complimenting the donor on the fineness of the fruit, reached him; and, feeling sure his head gardener would feel greatly interested in the contents of the letter, Mr. Childers read it to him. The gardener gravely listened, but his only comment was: "She dinna say onnything about sending back the basket."

Breakers Ahead!

Prudence, foresight, that might have saved many a good ship that has gone to pieces among the breakers, is a quality "conspicuous by its absence" among many classes of invalids, and among none more notably than persons troubled with inactivity of the kidneys and bladder. When these organs fall off in duty grievous trouble is to be apprehended. Bright's disease, diabetes, catarrh and stone in the bladder, are among the diseases which a disregard of early symptoms confirm and render fatal. That signally effective diuretic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, will—and let no one so troubled forget this—remedy the symptoms of approaching renal disease and check its further progress. Equally efficacious is the Bitters for constipation, liver complaint, malarial and rheumatic trouble and debility.

Are You Getting Bald?

If you are becoming bald or should your hair be falling out, you should at once consult a first class specialist, one who has had years of experience in training the hair. Or if your beard should be falling out or should nature have sledged you, you owe it to yourself to attend to it at once. Professor Birkholz, the well renowned hair specialist, 1011 Masonic Temple, where he may be consulted free of charge and in private. After a thorough examination, which will cost you nothing, he will explain your case, and should you be satisfied, he will treat you upon a guarantee to cure or ask no pay. Call or write Professor Birkholz, 1011 Masonic Temple Chicago.

Hand this notice to any first-class druggist and he will get the remedy for you at once, if he has not got it in stock. For sale by Prentice & Evenson.

A recently invented boxing glove fills the dead game sport's passionate longing for the sight of gore, yet is without quite of the "pillow" variety, which does little or no harm. In the top of each glove is a small chamber in which a sponge saturated with some harmless red liquid, is placed, and when it touches an adversary some of the stuff comes out through several small holes and makes a blood-like stain.

The Princess Soltykoff, who has lately lost much of her jewelry through daring English burglars, is a young and singularly beautiful woman, by birth an American, but of mixed English and Scotch descent. She possesses a miniature of her grandmother, Lovelace by name, which is in every particular a striking likeness of herself. She was married some few years ago to Prince Alexis Soltykoff, the only son of H. S. H. Prince Paul Soltykoff, well known here in racing circles. Prince Alexis died early last year in Syria of consumption. His widow draws a considerable revenue as dowry from the Soltykoff estates, and she is also possessed of a very large private fortune. Her serene highness purchased a charming residence close to Slough, Buckinghamshire, which was the scene of the late burglary, when jewelry to the value of some thousands of pounds was stolen. But the robbers left behind even more than they took, being either ignorant of the existence of one small safe and its precious contents, or being disturbed while they were at work.

The Quaker City.

For at least two generations in the past, and for as many probably in the future, Philadelphia must essentially be regarded as two distinct and separate towns. Politically there is but one, but from all other stand points the two towns of which I speak might as well be grouped about the north and south poles. And yet the gulf which separates these two places is but a fairly wide thoroughfare—Market street it is called. On one side lies the new town of Philadelphia, with its wide avenues, magnificent homes—generous and modern in its every outline. On the other quite peacefully rests the old town of Philadelphia, with its narrow streets, old brick houses, and shrouded in the conservatism which gave the city its individuality two hundred years ago, when the first Thanksgiving hymn was sung on the continent. The new town has the money and progression of a modern western city, with the boom still on. Its men are ambitious, and spend their money alike on trolleys and cables and club houses. But old Philadelphia does not fancy rapid transit. It prefers walking, or an occasional ride in the horse car. If it has thrown aside the shabby coat and wide-brimmed hat of its quaker ancestors, it can not altogether free itself from the hood which ran through the splendid men who once wore those quaint clothes.

Why We Have Treeless Plains.

Various theories have been advanced to account for the fact that there are in many countries vast areas of treeless land. One of the most popular of these theories, and the one generally accepted, is that prairie fires destroy all efforts of the trees to get a foothold in these localities. Another authority holds that the soil is not of the proper sort for tree growing. The fact that trees planted on prairies and plains grow luxuriantly seems to disprove both of these theories and leaves such speculations with nothing to rest on. A writer in the London Geographical Journal puts forth a new explanation for the lack of forests in such localities. He claims that there are trees only where there has been water to carry the seeds. These treeless plains have never been inundated since they became dry land, and therefore have never had tree seeds carried over their surface to lodge there, and by long continued moisture to sprout and grow. This certainly is a much more rational reason than the others given, and is borne out by the fact that all over the western plains and prairies there are young woodlands and thickets planted by the hand of man that bid fair to rival the natural forests in growth and value.

A Political Experience.

A candidate for office was so sorely beset by undesirable visitors that after much patient suffering he gave orders to the servants to deny admittance to all callers save his personal friends. How well the order was carried out he soon had evidence. The bell rang, and the maid, upon opening the front door was confronted by a body of "delegates" from a "willing" constituency, when the candidate overheard the following colloquy:

"Is Mr. C— at home?" said the leader.

"He is not," returned the maid.

"When will he be in?"

"Are ye personal friends of his?"

"Well—no," said the leader; "but—"

"Then he's never comin' back." And the door was closed with a bang.

Keeping It Quiet.

Husband—It's ruinous! The idea of paying all that money for a little bit of lace.

Wife—Mrs. Astorbilt has two or three pieces like that.

"But, good lands, the Astorbilts have millions where I have thousands. Don't you know that?"

"Of course I do, but I don't want the Astorbilts to know it."

A BOY MADE BLIND BY AN EXPLOSION

HARRY M'KEY HAS AN ACCIDENT IN CHICAGO.

Mysterious Explosion as the Result of Heating What He Supposed to Be a Piece of Wire, Destroyed One Eye and Possibly the Other—News of the City.

The mysterious explosion of what was apparently a piece of copper wire may blind Harry M'Key, the seventeen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry M'Key of Chicago, who were formerly Janesville residents. Young M'Key is a nephew of Mrs. F. F. Stevens and word of his injury came to Janesville today. The thing that exploded was apparently just a plain little piece of copper wire hammered down flat about one-fourth of an inch wide and perhaps a couple of inches long, but it was evidently a dynamite fuse, and as a result of his holding it in the flame of a cigar lighter one of his eyes is out and the doctors will more than realize their best hopes if they save the other. A number of boys were heating pennies in a cigar store and young M'Key not having a penny held the wire in the flame. The store was damaged considerably by the explosion.

Our great cost sale grows greater every day. From morning until night our large store room is crowded with a throng of anxious buyers. Our latest cut on dress goods. On the 3rd page is a line of dress goods advertised that will please every lady in the city, and they are so cheap, just before Christmas you know. Bort Bailey & Co.

H. E. MOORE, father of Mrs. T. H. Ruger, wife of General Ruger died at St. Paul and the remains were taken to Beloit for burial. Mr. Moore was an early resident and business man of Beloit and General and Mrs. Ruger and their daughter attended the services.

What's the matter with a Shaw piano for a Christmas present? This is the best piano made, and it would be impossible for you to get anything that would please your wife or children better. S. C. Burnham & Co., jewelers and music dealers.

WENT CRAZY IN JAIL.

Adam Aleckson Taken to Mendota--Tramps Are Thick.

Adam Aleckson went raving crazy at the jail yesterday where he was serving a sentence for vagrancy and Sheriff Bear took him to Mendota today.

Aleckson was sent to jail from Clinton ten days ago for thirty days. Yesterday a commission pronounced him insane and he was committed to the state asylum by Judge Sale.

Janesville is again being overrun by tramps, and the police are using all means to rid the city of them. From a dozen to twenty apply for accommodations at Hotel Bear every night, and the sheriff is compelled to take care of them. Seven applied in one covey last night, and the turnkey was kept up all night answering the door bell. The wood and stone pile has no effect on the hungry tourists.

A Story in a Few Words

John—How did you come out last year on your rented farm?

Tom—Barely made enough to pay the rent.

John—What rent did you pay?

Tom—I paid $5 per acre.

John—Will you rent a farm this year?

Tom—No, I am going to buy a farm for the price that I have paid yearly for rent.

John—Where are you going to buy it?

Tom—Why, have you not seen the offer of The C. S. Graves Land Co., Janesville, Wisconsin, who have an advertisement in our paper?

Above is a sample of conversation heard between a great many farmers in the thickly populated counties of several states.

See advertisement in this paper.

Use It In Time.

Catarra starts in the nasal passages, affecting eyes, ears and throat, and is in fact, the general enemy of the mucous membrane. Neglected colds in the head almost invariably precede catarra, causing an excessive flow of mucus, and if the mucus discharge becomes interrupted the disagreeable results of catarra will follow, such as bad breath, severe pain across forehead and about eyes, a roaring and buzzing sound in the ears and oftentimes a very offensive discharge. Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for these troubles.

HIS DEAD MOTHER HUNG BEFORE HIM

A HORRIBLE SIGHT GREETED BERT LINCOLN.

Despondency Believed to Be the Cause of Mrs. Lincoln's Suicide—Many Messages of Condolence Received at the Stricken First Ward Home This Morning.

A happy home, ample means and a loving family did not save Mrs. O. D. Lincoln from suicide. Light-hearted and vivacious though she was she suffered at times from fits of melancholia. One of these attacks seems to have been the cause of her death.

Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln lived at 127 Madison street, where they bought a home not long ago. Their home life was very happy. Both had taken great pleasure in the thought that Mr. Lincoln had quit the road and established himself in business, and both were devoted to their son, Herbert F.

Mrs. Lincoln was seen alive for the last time yesterday noon. She seemed nervous as she sat at the dinner table and her husband said:

"Aren't you feeling well today?"

"Not very well," she said, "but if you were half as well as I am it would be all right."

She had been worrying over Mr. Lincoln's health ever since last summer when he was taken sick during her two months' visit in the east and several times of late she had said she feared he would die and leave her alone.

Mr. Lincoln left the Brown Brothers' & Lincoln shoe store rather early yesterday afternoon, and got home fifteen minutes before 5 o'clock. He found the house locked and supposed his wife and gone to visit friends on Milton avenue, and had missed the car. He got a key at A. F. Spooner's, next door, and when Bert got home a few minutes later the two prepared supper, and Mr. Lincoln went back to business.

Face to Face with the Dead.

About twenty minutes after 6, Bert went up-stairs to dress for a party. He was surprised to find that his clothing had been taken from his closet and laid on the bed. With no thought of what was to come, he threw open the closet door. His mother's body, supported by the loop of a hammock rope, swung toward him. The rope was thrown over a temporary shelf in the top of the closet. It was so long that Mrs. Lincoln had put it about her neck and had then dropped forward to throw her weight on the noose.

For the son who was brought face to face with it unvarnished, the sight was stupefying in its horror. He gathered his senses instantly however, cut the rope and the body dropped heavily to the floor. Death had come long before, but Bert pulled open his mother's dress at the neck and ran for Dr. Palmer. The doctor at once saw that medical aid was useless, as fully three hours had passed since death.

Everything indicated that the dead was committed soon after 1 o'clock. The house had been put in perfect order from top to bottom but Mrs. Lincoln had not changed her dress for the afternoon. Every door in the house was locked and the keys withdrawn. A caller who rang the bell at 3 o'clock got no response. No word explaining the suicide has been found, although the house has been searched high and low.

Had Aged Much in Two Months.

A few years ago Mrs. Lincoln suffered frequently from fits of despondency. When especially depressed she would start out with her husband on short trips, returning in her usual spirits. Last summer she spent several months in the east visiting her mother. She was delighted to get home again saying that visiting was pleasant enough in its way but home was best, after all. Nevertheless she seemed much changed after her visit. She was less cheerful at times and seemed to worry a great deal about the expense of her trip and about household expenses. Her hair turned gray and she seemed to have a burden constantly upon her mind. A week ago Sunday C. B. Evans called at the house to take Mr. Lincoln for a ride. Mrs. Lincoln bundled him up very warmly and remarked as the two men drove away:

"This will be your last ride."

Mrs. Lincoln when in good spirits was the life of any company in which she was found. She was quick-witted, kindly and made hosts of warm friends. Messages of condolence have poured in upon the stricken husband and son today, grief over the sad occurrence being felt in every part of the city.

The funeral will be held at the house at 2 o'clock to-morrow afternoon.

ROBERTS SEES A GOOD PROSPECT

He Has Southern Wisconsin Backing To Oppose Marinette Backing.

Although he is opposed by the solid Schofield influence, Dr. E. D. Roberts has not given up his contest for the post of state veterinarian. Schofield's withdrawal in favor of Upham gives him a strong claim on the administration, of course, and he is backing Dr. Clate, of Marinette, very vigorously, but has no pledge that his man will succeed. As far as promises are concerned, there is a fair field and no favor, it was declared to-day.

Dr. Roberts has the support of the most influential men in southern Wisconsin to offset the strength of his rival. Besides all of Rock county he has many Racine men, Haugen, La Follette and others in Dane and many other leaders throughout this part of the state. He feels that his chances are bright and is in the fight to stay. "I am still in the field for the position of state veterinarian," said Dr. E. D. Roberts today. "Chairman Thom told me that my strongest competitor was Dr. Clates of Marinette, backed by Schofield, but I know nothing about any pledges that may or may not have been made to Mr. Schofield in Milwaukee."

J. SULLIVAN MAY DIE

Violent Inflammation Would Be Very Dangerous Now.

There is a possibility that Jere Sullivan, who was shot in the nose on Thursday morning, may never get into trouble again.

"He wound may possibly prove fatal," said Dr. Joe Whiting. "Sullivan is doing very well at present, but the ball is in his head somewhere, and should the inflammation set in severely, it may result fatally."

Sullivan is now at the home of his brother, John W. Sullivan, who lives on Chestnut street.

FREIGHT WRECKED NEAR MADISON

Broke In Two and Came Together on the Lake Embankment.

A freight train that left Janesville yesterday forenoon broke in two on a grade just south of Lake Monona near Madison. The engineer did not notice the break, and when he slacked the train for the crossing in the middle of the lake the rear section ran into the front end of train, breaking a flat car in the middle of the train, derailing and throwing two other cars into the lake, and partially wrecking two others. One of these contained depot supplies, among which were a quantity of matches. These took fire, and the car was burning when the train pulled in at the depot. No one was seriously injured.

RAILROAD OFFICIALS WERE HERE

The St. Paul's Managers Visit Janesville in a Special Train Today.

The head officials of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road were in Janesville today they traveling in their own special train. The party was composed of General Superintendent W. G. Collins; General Manager A. J. Earling, Assistant General Superintendent W. J. Underwood, First Assistant General Freight Agent D. W. Keyes, Assistant General Passenger Agent Miller and Division Superintendent W. W. Collins. They came here from Milwaukee and went out this morning but will return to the Cream City tonight.

IN THE BOND OF CUPID

Johnson-Walsh.

Miss Margaret C. Walsh, of this city, and John A. Johnson, of Edgerton, were quietly married at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. W. H. Wotton, of Trinity church, at 5 o'clock last evening. Miss Annie J. Walsh, sister of the bride, and Frank Horning acting as bridesmaid and groomsmen. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walsh, of North Main street, and is a well known and popular young lady. The groom is the proprietor of a cigar factory at Edgerton, and is an enterprising young business man. The bride received many handsome presents. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left at 7 o'clock for their home in Edgerton, where they will reside.

Bluhm-Donner.

Albert Bluhm of this city, and Miss Agnes Donner of Johnson's Creek, stood at the marriage altar last night and were united in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. C. J. Koerner at St. Paul's church. Misses Annie Teich and Minnie Saukely were the bridesmaids and Benjamin Donner, brother of the bride, and William Hell of this city, as groomsmen. After the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the groom's parents, 305 South Academy street, where they will reside in the future. That their life may be filled with joy is the wish of many friends.

Grand Opening and Lunch

The sample room of Boots & Murphy on West Milwaukee street, Alderman Cunningham's old stand, will present a handsome appearance to-morrow evening. Messrs. Boots & Murphy have put in new fixtures throughout, and renovated the place entire, and now have one of the finest sample rooms in the state. Tomorrow night they will spread the finest free lunch ever given in the city, turkey, celery and all the delicacies of the season will be on hand. Everybody is invited to be present and participate.

Answers the Last Call

Mrs. N. P. Bump.

Death came suddenly to an old resident of Janesville and Rock county yesterday afternoon when Mr. N. P. Bump was called to the final rest. Mrs. Bump had been in her usual health except that she had a hard cold, and on Wednesday she was down town, but in the evening she was taken sick and suffered a paralytic stroke that left her speechless and without the use of her arms, although she could open her eyes. Life remained with her, however, until 2:30 yesterday and then she died. Mrs. Bump was sixty-eight years of age, and was one of the pioneers of Rock county, coming here in the '40's and for many years resided near the Leiden house. At one time, also, was interested in the management of the Stage house. She was a communicant of Trinity church and was a devoted Christian. Besides a husband, four children are left to mourn, they being Frank P. and Louis C. Bump of Bridgeport, Conn., and Fayette and Minnie A. Bump of this city. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house.

BAD CROOKS JAILED FOR GETTING $125

EUGENE L. STEWART FEELS SOME BETTER NOW.

Bogus Traveling Men Buncoed Him For That Sum in a Chicago Saloon, But He Received a Letter To-day From the Police Saying the Men Are Caught.

Eugene L. Stewart, who was robbed of $125 in a Chicago saloon three weeks ago is now happy, for the police have got the thief in jail.

Stewart is a native of Michigan and was on his way to Janesville to enter Valentine's school of telegraphy. He had to stop at Chicago between trains and while he was waiting in the Northwestern depot a traveling man approached him and learned that the Michigan man was coming to Janesville. It so happened by a strange coincidence that the traveling man was also coming this way. Before he came, however, it was necessary for him to go out and buy a Webster's Unabridged dictionary and he asked Stewart if he wanted to talk a walk around to a book store. Stewart said he would go and they went. They stopped in a saloon first and the traveling man became engaged in a game of dice with some other men and they had a drink or two. Stewart was going to buy some cigars and pulled out his pocketbook to get the money. The book bulged with $125 in cash and almost before Stewart had gotten it out of his pocket the traveling man and his opponents in the dice game grabbed it and ran forgetting the dictionary and everything else except that they were traveling men and that rapid transit was their best hold.

Stewart objected to spending his money all in a lump but the saloonist piled onto him and hustled him about under one pretext or another until the traveling men were so far away that he couldn't see them when he got outside. He hunted up a policeman and told his story. The policeman arrested the saloonist and he was held in bonds, and in the meantime they have been hunting for the traveling men. Stewart stayed in Chicago several days and then came on to Janesville and entered the Valentine school where he is now studying. Today he received a letter from the chief of police of Chicago, telling him that the commercial experts had been caught and the case would come up Dec. 14, and the chief expressed the desire that Stewart be present to prosecute, which suggestion Mr. Stewart will adopt, thereby getting even.

ANSWERED THE LAST CALL

Mrs. N. P. Bump.

Death came suddenly to an old resident of Janesville and Rock county yesterday afternoon when Mr. N. P. Bump was called to the final rest. Mrs. Bump had been in her usual health except that she had a hard cold, and on Wednesday she was down town, but in the evening she was taken sick and suffered a paralytic stroke that left her speechless and without the use of her arms, although she could open her eyes. Life remained with her, however, until 2:30 yesterday and then she died. Mrs. Bump was sixty-eight years of age, and was one of the pioneers of Rock county, coming here in the '40's and for many years resided near the Leiden house. At one time, also, was interested in the management of the Stage house. She was a communicant of Trinity church and was a devoted Christian. Besides a husband, four children are left to mourn, they being Frank P. and Louis C. Bump of Bridgeport, Conn., and Fayette and Minnie A. Bump of this city. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the house.

VISIONARY IDEAS OF GREAT WRITERS

THE GREAT WRITERS OF THE PRESENT DAY.

Even the Great Writers of the Past Were Tainted with Visionary Ideas—The Theories of Howells, Donnelly and Bellamy.

ONE ONE WILL yet write of the revolt of the literati. It will be a curious study. It is a fact of which very few persons take note, that about all the great writers of history have been more or less radical antagonists of the existing order of things. There are very few of our favorite authors who have not at some time or other of their lives uttered a burning protest against the injustice, the inequalities, and the brutal commercialism of our modern society. It is a point worth noting in considering the influence of literature, that, as a rule, these protests are very little read.

Take a few examples. Every one thinks of Longfellow as the sweet singer of "Evangeline" and "Hawthorne." Surely, he had no protest to utter. But read his bitter poem, "The Challenge." We think of James Russell Lowell as the elegant essayist, the delightful orator, the advocate of higher politics. But read some of his earlier poems, "A Parable," "The Rich and the Poor," "Rent," and the like.

Or, again, who, as he reads the novels of Victor Hugo, thinks of the great Frenchman as the fiery revolutionist and socialist that he was? Many other names might be called to mind—Flaubert, De Goncourt, Heine, Lamennais, Kingsley, Charles Reade, Dickens, Frederick Maurice, Schiller, and many more.

In our own country we have almost forgotten that Horace Greeley was an ardent communist, says a writer in the New York Herald, and that it was due to his influence that the doctrines of Fourier had such vogue two or three decades ago. And there was Brook Farm with Alcott and Dana and many well known names.

With another twenty years a new school has arisen, and again the poets, the writers and the artists are to be found among its adherents. In this country perhaps the most conspicuous figures are William Dean Howells, the novelist; Stedman, the poet; Bellamy, Col. Higginson and the enigmatic Donnelly. Among artists Walter Crane is the most pronounced. There are many others whose stars are still near the horizon. In England it includes such men as William Morris, the poet; George Meredith, William Michael Rossetti, Bernard Shaw, Sydney Webb and even Oscar Wilde. John Ruskin is almost to be included, although he really belongs to that group of an earlier day, which was really more revolutionary and less concretely socialist in its aims. There is Gerald Massey and, perhaps, Walter Besant, and many others less known to fame.

There is hardly a figure among all whom I have named that is lacking in the elements of the picturesque. Of a particular group of them there is a curious thread of history. Back, perhaps twenty years ago, two young men, with very radical ideas about art, went one day to paint some frescoes at Oxford. One of them bore the strange name of Dante Gabriel Rossetti. The other was Burne-Jones. While they were at work a young man with a shock of fiery red hair, a broad, pale brow and a diminutive frame came to watch them. He was a young poet with the soul of a Greek. He had not then published "Laus Veneris." This was the beginning of the famous pre-Raphaelite school. The three young men, Rossetti, Burne-Jones and Swinburne, were afterward joined by Rossetti's brother and sister, by William Morris, George Meredith, and Millais, and together they revolutionized English ideas about art, and, perhaps, literature as well. Dante Rossetti is now dead. During his life the school almost entirely confined its energies to art and literature. Later, after his death, it developed radical political tendencies. Its present leaders are Morris and William Rossetti.

William Michael Rossetti has lived a very retired and unobtrusive life. He has written much in praise and appreciation of other artists, so that his own original work has been rather obscure. But who so will read his sonnets on democracy and kindred subjects will recognize what a strong, rugged fire burns in his soul. He is more of a student and rather less of a propagandist than Morris, and his contributions to the movement have been rather through his pen than his voice. Like Morris, he is no longer young, and lives quietly in a rather retired way just outside of London.

England never saw a stranger apparition in literature than when the star of Algernon Swinburne first swung into its ken. With a long line of aristocratic ancestors, Swinburne had the least of hereditary influence in making him into the born revolutionist that he was. His father was the Admiral Swinburne known to history. If not rich, his estates were ample, and he had leisure to travel and study as he liked.

He left Oxford before he had taken his degree, owing to some disagreement with the authorities of the college. He had already written some poetry, and he sought Walter Savage Landour in the latter's retirement in Italy. It was not likely that at the feet of this great and much misunderstood poet, who had quitted England because he could not live in a country which had so little appreciation of beauty, that young Swinburne was apt to have his radical notions curbed.

But it is through his thrilling "Songs Before Sunrise" that Swinburne revealed the ardent revolutionary spirit which possessed him. It is a dead soul who can read these stirring poems with an unmoved pulse. They throb and quiver with a revolt against tyranny, a passionate thirst for freedom and a hatred of oppression which rank them with the finest specimens of revolutionary verse in the language. Swinburne was in his youth strongly tempted to become a radical in politics as he was in verse, and he was at one time contemplating standing for parliament as an ultra-liberal. As matters then stood he would unquestionably have been elected. But it is probable that England and literature have been the gainers rather than the losers by his decision to follow literature alone.

In America, perhaps, the foremost champion of socialism among literary men at the present time is William Dean Howells. The novelist's entrance into the field of economics, holding a lance for an unpopular doctrine, has been the cause of much surprise and mystification to his friends and admirers. Yet no one could have read his novels, and particularly such as "A Hazard of New Fortunes" and "Silas Lapham," and even such a minor story as "The World of Chance," without realizing that the novelist had long been a serious student of such questions.

Mr. Howells chose to present his philosophy to the public in a garb of fiction. "A Traveler from Altruria," and the sequel, "Letters of an Altrurian Traveler," bear a very strong resemblance to the "Utopia" of Sir Thomas Moore, the "Atlantis" of Bacon and the "Republic" of Plato. It is worthy of note that though the word "Utopian" has come to be synonymous with chimerical dreams practically all of the advanced ideas of Sir Thomas Moore long ago became the commonplaces of our political system. No one would now think of restoring imprisonment for debt or abolishing our system of education. Yet these were among Sir Thomas Moore's dreams.

The story of "Looking Backward," which appeared about six years ago, has had a larger circulation, with one exception, than any book ever written in America. That, of course, is "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Nearly half a million copies of "Looking Backward" have been sold in English, and it has been translated into many tongues of Europe. Its author Edward Bellamy, is a very young man.

A law in Norway prohibits any person from spending more than 5 cents for liquor at one visit to a public house, and alcoholic stimulants are only supplied to sober persons, says the New Orleans Picayune.

hope of escape from the fiery tornado which scattered death and destruction on every side Sept. 1. The original story of her achievement, which was sent out during the excitement subsequent to the terrible conflagration, was incomplete and fragmentary. The name of the subject of this little story is Freda Johnson, and she is one of six children belonging to the Johnson family of Partridge, Minn. When it became apparent that their home would be swept away the old folks became panic stricken. They were almost helpless from the smoke which blinded them, and they were about to take refuge in the cellar. They were persuaded to run for a small pond, situated a half mile distant. In the excitement Joe the 2½-year-old baby, was forgotten. His sister Freda missed him and returned in the face of the terrible smoke to search for him. She passed near him in the yard, which surrounded the house, and which was now in flames, and her quick ear heard his screams of terror above the roaring of the tempest and flames. She grasped him in her arms and ran for her life and "Joe's." She reached the pond staggering under the burden and gasping for breath. Her strength had almost failed her. Freda next discovered that her mother was missing, and her attention was drawn to an object on a burning bridge, which she recognized as the distracted parent. She flew to her side, but the woman warned her away, saying that she preferred to burn there to suffering the same fate in the water. Freda grasped her half-crazed mother and pulled and pushed her off the burning structure and finally got her to the water and safety. Freda did this last act at the sacrifice of her beautiful hair, which was streaming down her back, and which was so badly burned it had to be cut off at the neck. It is little short of a miracle that the child stood so much exertion under the circumstances, for the heat and smoke were almost unbearable. She certainly displayed heroism of the purest type. Freda Johnson is one of nature's uncut diamonds. She is unaccustomed to city sights and her stay in Superior is an epoch in her life. She has been lionized by the relief committee, and there is talk of extending to her some testimonial of a public nature for her undaunted and unselfish heroism on the long-to-be-remembered day of the great forest fires.

England's Latest African War.

England has another little war on its hands on the African west coast. An independent chief called Nana, back of Benin, interfered with the natives, who trade with the English in that town; he was summoned to a palaver, but instead sent a messenger, to pay any compensation asked, but refusing to attend in person. A war vessel was then sent against his town, which was bombarded and destroyed, but Nana resisted the English attacking parties, killing two or three officers and some men. Additional forces have been sent to avenge this outrage. Nana's land being reported to be fertile and strategically important. This is the English account of the affair.

FOR THE YEAR 1895 THE CHICAGO EVENING JOURNAL

—MAKES THIS ITS—
Annual Announcement.

It is the most conservative, candid and reliable evening newspaper in the west. It is republican in politics, because the central principles of the republican party are purity, protection and progress in all things, social, industrial and political. It upholds the rights of labor, ability and capital to just compensation for their respective contributions to the country's wealth. It advocates an honest and elastic currency. The Journal stands for a free ballot-box, for law, and the merit system as against spoils and pull. It will be partisan when partisanship is synonymous with patriotism, but it will be free to oppose bad men and false measures whenever they appeal for public endorsement. In all its news features the Journal will be full, adequate, discriminating and as accurate as practicable. As the Journal possesses all the modern facilities for obtaining news, it readers will never miss any event of a real moment; happening anywhere on or visible from the earth's surface. It is edited so as to save the reader the necessity of hunting through bushels of chaff for the kernels of grain. Alert and enterprising in gathering the news, bold and courageous in discussing affairs, reliable and readable in all respects. The Journal naturally appeals to constantly widening circle of the good people of Chicago and of the north west who appreciate a thoroughly good news paper. In its market, financial and commercial reports, the Journal has earned the title of "The Old Reliable" a sobriquet it will always strive to deserve. These and many other considerations make the Journal the favorite evening newspaper of the business office, the home and the farm in the great northwestern.
